Invitation to the 2013 International Family Nursing Conference

We are pleased to announce the 11th International Family Nursing Conference to be held in Minneapolis, Minnesota at the Hyatt Regency Hotel, June 19-22, 2013. The conference will begin with pre-conference workshops on June 19. This biennial event continues a tradition begun in 1988 of gathering nurses and interdisciplinary colleagues from around the world to exchange ideas and address critical questions related to family research, practice, and education. Through pre-conference workshops, plenary sessions, symposia, and paper/poster exchanges, attendees will have ample opportunities to learn about recent advances in the field and share their work and ideas with others who are committed to the advance of family nursing. With an eye to the future, the conference will emphasize interdisciplinary connections, practice linkages, translational research, and innovative approaches to teaching and curriculum development.

The conference is the first official meeting of the International Family Nursing Association (IFNA), an organization whose mission is to foster the individual and collective development of nurses involved in the promotion of health care to families by providing a unique international forum of shared responsibility for the advance of family nursing.

In addition, there will be opportunities to discuss publishing in the Journal of Family Nursing with Dr. Janice Bell, socialize with colleagues at receptions and during a dinner cruise on the Mississippi River, and explore Minneapolis and the surrounding area through special tours for conference attendees.

On behalf of the Program Planning Committee and the IFNA Board, we invite you to participate in this exciting event. Please encourage your colleagues and students to attend. We look forward to seeing you in Minneapolis in June.

Sincerely,
Marcia Van Riper, PhD, RN, FAAN
President, International Family Nursing Association
Kathleen Knafl, PhD, FAAN
Catherine (Kit) Chesla, RN, PhD, FAAN
Co-chairs Conference Planning Committee

Conference Objectives

The overall objectives of the conference are to:

1. Showcase innovations in family research, practice, and education.
2. Provide family researchers, educators, and clinicians with information, strategies, and tools needed to advance their work.
3. Examine models for translating family research into evidence-based models of care.
4. Provide formal and informal opportunities for collegial exchange and the launching of new projects and collaborations.
5. Highlight opportunities for shaping programs and policies related to the health and wellbeing of families worldwide.
6. Engage researchers, clinicians, and educators in efforts to learn from and inform one another.

Acknowledgements

IFNA is proud to be partnering with the Glen Taylor Nursing Institute for Family and Society at Minnesota State University, Mankato, who has provided generous financial support for the growth and development of IFNA and is the Official Conference Sponsor. The Glen Taylor Institute for Family and Society at Minnesota State University, Mankato is committed to developing and enhancing innovative nursing knowledge that improves the health and healing of families and society at local, state, national and international levels. The Institute's vision, mission and purposes are guiding several educational initiatives at Minnesota State University, Mankato. Students, faculty members, practicing health professionals and researchers are becoming part of this scholarly community.

Keynote Speakers

Patricia Benner, RN, PhD, FAAN

Dr. Patricia Benner is a professor emerita at the University of California School of Nursing. She is a noted nursing educator and author of From Novice to Expert: Excellence and Power in Nursing Practice, which has been translated into eight languages. She has directed over 50 doctoral dissertations. She pioneered the use of Interpretive Phenomenology in Nursing. She is the director of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of Teaching National Nursing Education Study, Educating Nurses: A Call for Radical Transformation which is the first such study in forty years. Additionally, she collaborated with the Carnegie Preparation for the Professions studies of clergy, engineering, law, and medicine. Dr. Benner is designated as a Living Legend of the American Academy of Nursing. She was elected an honorary fellow of the Royal College of Nursing. Her work has influence beyond nursing in the areas of clinical practice and clinical ethics. She is the first author of Expertise in Nursing Practice: Caring, Ethics and Clinical Judgment (2010) with Christine Tanner and Catherine Chesla, and she has coauthored twelve other notable books including a 2nd Edition of Clinical Wisdom and Interventions in Acute and Critical Care: A Thinking-In-Action Approach. For more information, visit http://www.educatingnurses.com.

Pauline Boss, PhD

Dr. Pauline Boss is professor emeritus at the University of Minnesota, a Fellow in the American Psychological Association and American Association of Marriage and Family Therapy; a former president of the National Council on Family Relations, and a family therapist in private practice.

With her groundbreaking work as a scientist-practitioner, Dr. Boss is the principal theorist in the study of ambiguous loss, a term she coined in the 1970s. Since then, she has researched various types of ambiguous loss, summarizing her work in the widely acclaimed book, Ambiguous Loss: Learning to Live with Unresolved Grief (Harvard University Press, 1999). In addition, Loss, Trauma, and Resilience (Norton, 2006), presents six therapeutic guidelines for treatment when loss is complicated by ambiguity. These guidelines are based on her years of work with families of the physically missing during the Vietnam War, after 9/11, and in Kosovo, as well as in clinical work with families with loved ones who are missing psychologically—from Alzheimer's disease and other dementia, as well as from traumatic brain injury. Dr. Boss's most recent book, Loving Someone Who Has Dementia (Jossey-Bass, 2011) outlines proven strategies for managing the ongoing stress and grief while caring for someone who has dementia and offers hope for dealing with the ambiguous loss of dementia—having a loved one both here and not here, physically present but psychologically absent. For more information, visit http://www.ambiguousloss.com.

Pamela Hinds, PhD

Dr. Pamela Hinds is currently the Director of the Department of Nursing Research and Quality Outcomes and Associate Director of the Center for Clinical Translational Science at Children's National Medical Center in Washington, D.C., and a Professor of Pediatrics at the George Washington University in Washington, D. C. She is adjunct professor for the University of Pennsylvania, School of Nursing, Johns Hopkins University, School of Nursing, and the University of Maryland, College of Nursing. Dr. Hinds received her undergraduate degree magna cum laude from the University of Vermont, Burlington, VT and her M.S.N. and Ph.D. degrees from the University of Arizona, Tucson in Psychiatric Nursing (summa cum laude) and Clinical Nursing Research, respectively.

Dr. Hinds had the privilege of creating and leading research related to hope and the pediatric cancer experience, quality of life, fatigue and altered sleep during the treatment of pediatric cancers, and end of life communication and decision making. She served on the IOM committee on end-of-life and palliative care for children in America and the NQF panel on palliative and end-of-life care in America. She is an Oncology Nursing Society Distinguished Nurse Researcher and the Association of Pediatric Oncology and Hematology Distinguished Nurse Researcher. She currently serves on the NCI Symptom and Quality of Life Scientific Committee, Co-director of the Patient-Reported Outcomes (PRO) Resource Center for the Children's Oncology Group, and member of the NINR Ad Hoc Evaluation Advisory Committee, End-of-life and Palliative Care Science: A Needs Assessment of Federal and Private Research Funding Trends, Project Grants, and National Research Priorities and is the editor-in-chief for the journal, CANCER NURSING: An International Cancer Journal. Dr. Hinds was the founding Director of the Division of Nursing Research at St. Jude Children's Research Hospital where she led the nursing research program for more than two decades.

IFNA Committee Meetings

IFNA has several standing committees. Committees have designated time Thursday and Friday morning to meet in person with committee members. IFNA members can become more active in the organization by joining a committee meeting. These meetings are open to all members. Come share your family nursing knowledge with other IFNA members from around the world.

Thursday, June 20th 7:30am – 8:25am

Membership Committee (Greenway D Room)

The Membership Committee is responsible for developing strategies to recruit and retain membership worldwide. IFNA has more than 370 members, from more than 25 countries.

Nominating Committee (Greenway E Room)

The Nominating Committee is composed of five elected members. The Committee is responsible for preparing a ballot that is submitted to the membership for a vote each year. Committee members work to ensure there are multiple countries represented on the ballot. The Nominating Committee oversees the election procedures making sure procedures are correctly followed. Committee members are involved with reaching out to members and encouraging them to seek leadership opportunities in IFNA.

Research Committee (Greenway BI Room)

The purpose of the Research Committee is to advance the conduct, dissemination and use of family nursing research worldwide. Our mission is to help shape the future direction of family nursing science and the advancement of nurse scientists in this field. Our core goals are to increase research collaborations among members and to increase the visibility and reach of family nursing science internationally.

Friday, June 21st 8:00am – 8:55am

Education Committee (Greenway C Room)

The purpose of the Education Committee is to identify and disseminate the best educational practices for family nursing worldwide. Committee members draw on a range of expertise in order to promote family nursing education. This is also achieved by inviting contributions from the wider community of IFNA members willing to share educational resources or examples of best educational practice. The goal is to disseminate a position statement on family nursing education underpinned by innovative resources and a competency framework, both of which can inform educators and faculties to advance family health care education of nurses globally.

Practice Committee (Greenway D Room)

The Practice Committee of the International Family Nursing Association was formed to identify and disseminate the best practice family nursing models and has expanded its mission to move family nursing forward by building capacity in nurses for their practice with families. The initial goals of the Practice Committee focused on identifying family nursing practice approaches and models across the world, determining the scope of action in family nursing approaches, and disseminating descriptions of family nursing practice models and publications on the IFNA Practice Committee website. In addition, committee activities include dissemination of current family nursing practice news via the IFNA listserv and website, recruiting family nursing leaders to offer IFNA webinars, and discussing cultural considerations in family nursing model adoption. Our next major activity includes identifying family nursing competencies. The committee invites active IFNA members to join the Practice Committee in the exciting work of promoting family nursing practice across the world.

Host City

The history, art, culture, and beauty of Minneapolis are marvels that must be experienced rather than witnessed. Nature meets skyscrapers, blending together to create unique sights and attractions that can only be experienced in Minneapolis. With its gleaming skyscrapers set amid glittering lakes, it makes for an attractive and fun getaway. The Mall of America offers shopping, dining, and entertainment options. Art lovers have plenty to see at the Minneapolis Art Institute, Walker Art Center and the Frederick R. Weisman Art Museum. Minneapolis is known as the "City of Lakes" and has 22 lakes located within city limits.

Naohiro Hohashi, PhD, RN, PHN, LSN Professor
Family Health Care Nursing
Kobe University, Japan

Workshop Description: Translating research of families to practice is essential to advance the care of families in all clinical settings. Researchers and clinicians from three countries and continents will provide examples of theoretical models that have been applied for the translation of family research to practice and to inform policy for change.

Level of Workshop: Intermediate

Objectives: At the end of the workshop attendees will be able to:

- Describe characteristics of translation science to inform translation of family research to practice.
- Describe characteristics of implementation science to inform translation of family research to practice.
- Describe four research theoretical models that demonstrate family nursing research ready for translation to practice.
- Describe four effective strategies for translating research of families to practice and policy.

Workshop: (Nicollet A3 Room)

Unpacking the Illness Beliefs Model: What do we know from practice-based evidence about healing families?

Janice M. Bell, RN, PhD
Associate Professor Emeritus, Nursing
University of Calgary
Okanagan Centre, British Columbia Canada

Lorraine M Wright, RN, PhD
Professor Emeritus of Nursing,
University of Calgary
International Lecturer/Author/Blogger
Clinician
Calgary, Alberta Canada

Workshop Description: The Illness Beliefs Model workshop will offer the most current aspects of this advanced practice model developed by the presenters. Clinical research and practice will highlight what is known from practice-based evidence about healing families suffering with serious illness. Videotaped clinical examples will demonstrate the transfer of knowledge into practice.

Level of Workshop: Advanced

Objectives: At the end of the workshop attendees will be able to:

- Understand the core aspects of the Illness Beliefs Model and the intersection of beliefs of patient, family, and health care providers.
- Know the best research and clinical practices to alter constraining illness beliefs and invite family healing.
- Recognize your own facilitating and constraining beliefs that may hinder or heal families.

Workshop: (Lakeshore C Room)

Facilitating Family Caregiving: Theory-Driven Intervention Development and Evaluation

Gwen R. Rempel, PhD, RN
Associate Professor

Laura G. Rogers, MScRS, OT(C)
Research Associate
Faculty of Nursing, University of Alberta
Edmonton, Alberta Canada

Vinitha Ravindran, PhD, RN
Professor
College of Nursing, Christian Medical College
Vellore, India

Workshop Description: Models that inform the development and evaluation of theory-based interventions are central to innovative family nursing practice. The objective of this knowledge translation workshop is apply a descriptive model of multi-faceted parenting that links theory-driven research with interventions for families of children with complex health conditions.

Level of Workshop: Intermediate

Objectives: At the end of the workshop attendees will be able to:

- Understand the development of a model of multi-faceted parenting (Facet model) for intervention development.
- Consider the conceptual clarity of the Facet model and relevance for intervention testing in family caregiving research.
- Determine how the Facet model could be adapted to other populations through the examples of research and theory development with families who are caring for children who have autism or have sustained life-threatening burns.
- Identify opportunities for collaboration for further theory development by considering aspects of the Facet model that could be applied in their clinical, research, and teaching expertise.

12:00pm-1:30pm Lunch (on your own)

1:30pm-4:30pm Pre-Conference Workshops (Nicollet A1, Nicollet A3 and Lakeshore C Rooms)

Workshop: (Nicollet A1 Room)
Using Adaptive Leadership Framework and Trajectory Science Methods for Research in Family Health

Sharron Docherty, PhD, CPNP (AC/PC)
Associate Professor
Ruth A. Anderson, PhD, MSN, MA, RN, FAAN
Virginia Stone Professor of Nursing
Donald E. Bailey, PhD, RN, FAAN
Associate Professor
Duke School of Nursing
Center of Excellence for ADAPTive Leadership for Cognitive/Affective Symptom Science

Debra H. Brandon, PhD, RN, CCNS, FAAN
Associate Professor
Duke University School of Nursing
Durham, North Carolina, USA

Workshop Description: The Adaptive Leadership (AL) framework supports health care providers' ability to mobilize families to confront health challenges, adapt, and thrive. AL framework combined with methods in trajectory science shows promise in understanding how families navigate through disequilibrium, confront health problems, engage in problem-defining and problem-solving work, and share responsibility for their future.

Level of Workshop: Intermediate

Objectives: At the end of the workshop attendees will be able to:
- Use the Adaptive Leadership framework to conceptualize the study of families in health and illness.
- Develop familiarity with a range of trajectory design methods that can be used in the study of family health challenges.
- Conceptualize interventions that might influence health trajectories experienced by families with health challenges across the life span.

Workshop: (Nicollet A3)
Integrating Spirituality into Family Nursing Practice: "Do I need to? Do I want to? What clinical skills would I need?"

Lorraine M Wright, RN, PhD
Professor Emeritus of Nursing,
University of Calgary
International Lecturer/Author/Blogger
Clinician
Calgary, Alberta
Canada

Workshop Description: Illness suffering opens the door into the spiritual domain. Seven spiritual care practices will be offered that have proven useful in clinical practice to soften suffering and open spiritual conversations with families. The Trinity Model will be offered as a framework for the connection between spirituality, illness suffering and illness beliefs.

Level of Workshop: Intermediate

Objectives: At the end of the workshop attendees will be able to:
- Recognize that caring for families who suffer invites us into the spiritual domain.
- Understand the distinction between spirituality and religion.
- Comprehend the salient features of the Trinity Model.
- Be aware of seven spiritual care practices that soften suffering and invite family healing.

Workshop: (Lakeshore C)
Teaching Family-Focused Nursing Care Using Simulation

Angela Christian, DNP, RN
Stacey Van Gelderen, DNP, RN
Colleen Royle, MSN, RN
Mary Ann McKenna Moon, MSN, RN
Norma Krumwiede, EdD, RN
Patricia Young, PhD, RN
Sandra Eggenberger, PhD, RN

Minnesota State University, Mankato
School of Nursing Faculty in conjunction with The Glen Taylor Nursing Institute for Family and Society at Minnesota State University, Mankato

Workshop Description: This pre-conference provides an overview of how one undergraduate nursing curriculum integrates family-focused nursing care using high-fidelity simulations. Simulations incorporating family constructs and competencies that purposefully guide student learning outcomes are demonstrated. Participants will learn how simulations are effective tools to teach students to "think family" in their nursing practice.

Level of Workshop: Introduction / Intermediate

Objectives: At the end of the workshop attendees will be able to:
- Describe how the complexities of nurse-family communication and care delivery can be taught using various simulation strategies.
- Identify practical ways to incorporate family-focused nursing care in simulation experiences.
- Evaluate the use of simulation to "think family" in nursing practice.

Additional opportunities for conference attendees

(sign-up for these events is available within the conference registration process – Please note: space is limited)

University of Minnesota Hospital and School of Nursing Innovation Center Tour
Tuesday, June 18, 2013

SOLD OUT

Participants will have the opportunity to participate in a guided tour of a University hospital that focuses on adult health care or pediatrics in Minneapolis Minnesota USA. Participants can select to tour the University of Minnesota Medical Center, Fairview (www.uofmmedicalcenter.org) that is committed to providing exceptional care in a setting focused on adult care innovations or University of Minnesota Amplatz Children's Hospital (www.uofmchildrenshospital.org) that offers pediatric specialties and innovations in family care.

Following a tour of the selected hospital, participants will have a guided tour of the new state-of-the-science Healthy Communities Innovation Center (HCIC) located in the School of Nursing at the University of Minnesota (www.nursing.umn.edu). This Center incorporates state-of-the-art technology (electronic health record, telehealth) into the learning environment where students from different disciplines can gain skills and experience working as a health care team through simulations in various health care settings including clinics, emergency room, hospitals, long-term care facilities and a family home environment.

A limited number of participants can participate in the hospital tours. Transportation will be first provided to the selected hospital and then to the School of Nursing Healthy Communities Innovation Center for a tour, light refreshments and summary conversation. Participants will be transported back to the hotel after the tours.

Tour Cost: $10.00/person

Post-conference Workshop: Saturday, June 22, 2013

Learning to Teach "Thinking Family" Using High-Fidelity Simulations

Participants will tour a comprehensive simulation center, have an opportunity to participate in a family-focused high-fidelity simulation, and experience a debriefing process with nursing faculty from Minnesota State University, Mankato who are experts in teaching simulation and family nursing. The post-conference sessions will showcase strategies to teach effective family nursing practices. Exemplars of simulation scenarios, teaching and evaluation tools will be provided.

The post-conference workshop site is Minnesota State University, Mankato, approximately 85 miles from the Minneapolis St. Paul area. Transportation will be provided to the workshop which is also the site of The Glen Taylor Nursing Institute for Family and Society. Following the post-conference participants will enjoy a social event and dinner at a local winery, Chankaska Creek Ranch and Winery. The vineyard and winery sits on a creek in a rural setting of the Minnesota River Valley. A nurse alumnus from Minnesota State University Mankato owns the winery and is helping to support this event. Chankaska is a native Dakota Indian name meaning "forest-enclosed" and vineyard visitors will delight in the natural setting. http://www.chankaskawines.com/
