CONFERENCE BROCHURE

JUNE 14 - 17, 2017 • PAMPLONA, SPAIN

Invitation to the 13th International Family Nursing Conference

Dear Conference Attendees,

I am excited to have you join me and our family nursing colleagues from around the world at the University of Navarra Campus, in beautiful, Pamplona, Spain for the 13th International Family Nursing Conference: The Art and Science of Family Nursing: Transforming Health for Families.

This meeting has been designed to fuel the art and science you so expertly integrate in family nursing practice, education and research in our united, global effort to transform family health. It is also a time to put faces to names and to renew and strengthen relationships. Each one of us has a unique opportunity in this moment of time to nurture not only our family nursing knowledge and skills but also, our supportive web of connections. Please know that you are warmly welcomed.

I want to acknowledge the tireless efforts of the conference co-chairs, Drs. Jane Lasseter and June Horowitz, along with their Conference Committee and Kassalen Meeting & Events for crafting a fantastic program. Their dedication over the past 18 months is most appreciated! Similarly, the continued financial support from our sponsors and exhibitors allows us to meet and grow. I am particularly grateful for our friends at the College of Allied Health and Nursing at Minnesota State University, Mankato USA and The Glen Taylor Nursing Institute for Family and Society, at Minnesota State University, Mankato USA for their Gold Sponsorship of this year's conference. Additionally, we are thankful for the local conference support provided by the University of Navarra.

What is new to this year's conference? We responded to feedback from our last gathering in Denmark to create a general session dedicated to learning more about family nursing and the health care system in Spain. Also new, exceptional posters will be recognized with Poster Awards. The program is full of informative and exciting work, but there are also many opportunities to network during breaks, at committee meetings, during lunches and to enjoy each other's company at the Otazu Winery during the Conference Banquet. Please join me at the IFNA business meeting to learn more about the innovative work happening within the organization and to find a place where your talents have a home. I hope you find the program educational and have an opportunity to explore the beautiful city of Pamplona during your stay.

Sincere thanks for participating and sharing your energy and your work with our larger family nursing community.

Warm regards,

Carole Robinson, PhD, RN

The objectives for the conference are:

1. To demonstrate creative educational strategies that address both the art and science of family nursing across the contexts of practice, education and research.
2. Examine strategies for family nursing practice that build on current research and technology.
3. Highlight research that focuses on the challenges for transforming family health and family care worldwide.
4. Examine the role of policy in addressing the challenges affecting contemporary families and increasing family engagement in health care.

Keynote Speakers

Opening Keynote: Who are you from?

Martha Driessnack, PhD, PPCNP-BC, RN
Associate Professor
Oregon Health & Science University
School of Nursing
Portland, Oregon USA

This opening session weaves children's art and stories with emerging research on the importance of intergenerational relationships and family lore, shifting the common question of "Where are you from?" to the more revealing "Who are you from?"

Martha Driessnack is a Pediatric Nurse Practitioner with over 30 years of practice with children and families. She received her BSN from the Ohio State University, MSN from Yale University, and PhD from Oregon Health & Science University (OHSU), with a minor in art therapy from Marylhurst University. She then completed the NINR Summer Genetics Institute at the National Institutes of Health (NIH) and a post-doctoral research fellowship in clinical genetics at the University of Iowa.

Her program of research revolves around the active engagement of children in all matters of health-related research and practice. To date, much of her work has centered on the integration of child-centric techniques, including the use of art to facilitate communication. To date, she has engaged children in a wide array of conversations, from health-related symptoms, such as fear and pain, to understanding complex topics, such as genetic origins, disease causation, risk, and/or inheritance. Using art, she continues to be in awe of the degree to which children are able to communicate their needs, experiences, and challenges and the nuanced insights they provide about themselves, their families, and health.

In her keynote address, she will highlight how to integrate various forms of art into family-focused research.

One of the key points she likes to make is family stories are important. Join her to learn why.

Day 2 Keynote: The Family and Family Nursing in Spain

The IFNC13 Conference Committee is pleased to announce the Keynote for Day 2 of the conference which will focus on family and family nursing in Spain. This theme was selected in response to your feedback from our previous conference that you would like to hear more about the nature of families and family nursing in our host country.

Carolina Montoro-Gurich, PhD
Professor of Human Geography
University of Navarra
Pamplona, Spain

Dr. Montoro-Gurich is the Vice Dean of Research at the School of Humanities and Social Sciences and the Sub Director of the Institute of Sciences for the Family at the University of Navarra. Dr. Montoro-Gurich's research focuses primarily on migration and family policies. The presentation will give IFNC13 participants a perspective on family health issues in Spain and Europe.

Cristina Garcia-Vivar, PhD, MSc, RN
Director of International Affairs of the Spanish General Council of Nurses
Associate Professor
School of Nursing, University of Navarra
Pamplona, Spain

Dr. Garcia-Vivar's program of research focuses on teaching family nursing interventions to practicing nurses to help them to support families who are caring for a relative with chronic illness. In addition, Dr. Garcia-Vivar is a valued leader in IFNA through her roles on the Board of Directors and the IFNA Practice and Conference Committees. Her presentation will complement the keynote talk from Dr. Montoro-Gurich concerning key issues and family nursing in Spain.

Closing Keynote: "We Are Family: The Science of Family Caregiving"

Janet A. Deatrick, PhD, RN, FAAN
Professor Emerita of Nursing
University of Pennsylvania
Philadelphia, Pennsylvania USA

Janet A. Deatrick, PhD, RN, FAAN is Professor Emerita of Nursing and formerly the Shearer Endowed Term Chair in Healthy Community Practice and Director of the Center for Health Equity Research at the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing. Dr. Deatrick is internationally known for her contributions to the science of family caregiving. Deatrick's research focuses on a family-centered approach to care that supports family management and encompasses family strengths through provider-family partnerships. Her work is a catalyst to the development of family nursing and to the standards of clinical care for vulnerable families and their children. Her groundbreaking research pioneered the use of innovative qualitative, quantitative and mixed methods approaches to better understand how families integrate the care of youth who have serious chronic conditions and who have survived childhood brain tumors. She has published 125 peer-reviewed articles in 46 different journals and in 16 book chapters.

Her excellence in family nursing research has been recognized by the 2016 Claire M. Fagin Distinguished Researcher Award from the University of Pennsylvania School of Nursing, the 2007 Eastern Nursing Research Society's Suzanne Feetham Nurse Scientist Family Research Award for Senior Investigators, and the 2007 Distinguished Contribution to Family Nursing Research award with Kathleen Knaff and Agatha Gallo. Her contributions to research training and clinical practice are based on her dedication to educating and mentoring the next generation of family nurses. Her excellence in teaching has been recognized by the 1994 Christian and Nancy Lindback Award for Distinguished Teaching and the 2013 Barbara J. Lowery Doctoral Student Organization Faculty Award from the School of Nursing. Her professional service and impact were recognized by a 1999 Achievement Award, University of Illinois Alumni Association and by 1992 fellowship in the American Academy of Nursing. She is a long-standing member of IFNA, served as co-chair of 12th IFNA's conference in Odense Denmark, and currently serves as chair of IFNA's Resources Advancement Committee.

Family Care Needs and Chronic Disease Self-Management

Presenter:

Sharon Denham, PhD, RN, CNE, Texas Women's University, USA

Session Sponsored by Carol Loveland-Cherry

Description:

As the world's people age, they are likely to be living with four or more chronic illnesses. Medical professionals often fail to provide the education necessary to self-manage these conditions. Tendencies to view adults as independently able to care for themselves often means they are inadequately prepared for optimum disease management. However, family members and households are not independent from individuals. Nurses must be prepared to provide the family-focused education needed for optimum care. This presentation provides directions for 21st century nurses' education and clinical practice to optimize disease management and improve life quality.

Novel Practices for Developing and Testing Family-Focused Interventions

Presenters:

Kathleen Knafl, PhD, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, USA

Janet Deatrick, PhD, RN, FAAN, University of Pennsylvania, USA

Catherine (Kit) Chesla, RN, PhD, FAAN, University of California, San Francisco, USA

Session Sponsored by

Description:

The intent of the workshop is to examine the nature of family-focused interventions, including design options, theoretical grounding, implementation strategies, and strategies for enhancing internal and external validity. Drawing on both the literature and their firsthand experiences developing and testing community-based and problem solving family-focused interventions, presenters will provide practical guidance for anyone interested in undertaking a family-focused intervention study. Through discussion and small group work, participants will have an opportunity to receive input on their own research.

A Social Media Primer for Family Nursing Scholars

Presenters:

Janice M. Bell, RN, PhD, University of Calgary, Canada

Wilma Schroeder, MMFT, RN, BN, Red River College, Canada

Joel G. Anderson, PhD, University of Tennessee, USA

Wendy Looman, PhD, APRN, CNP, University of Minnesota, USA

Description:

Whether you are curious about using social media or have several years of experience, this workshop is for family nursing scholars who wish to deepen and extend both their understanding as well as their applied skills in the academic/scholarly use of social media related to #familynursing. This pre-conference workshop skillfully blends both the "why" and "how to" of several social media channels to advance family nursing knowledge. The focus is on how your academic scholarship in family nursing can be advanced through social media and, reciprocally, how social media can advance growth/spread of ideas to make family nursing more visible.

Promoción de una 'Familia Cuidadora Sostenible' (FCS): herramientas para la valoración e intervención familiar (Promoting 'Sustainable Caring Family': Strategies for family nursing assessment and intervention)

Presenters:

Ana Canga, PhD, RN, University of Navarra, Spain

Nuria Esandi, PhD, RN, University of Navarra, Spain

Description:

Care has a profound impact upon the family unit, and the need families have in managing their emotional, physical, relational and spiritual well-being. Promoting what we call 'Sustainable Caring Family' is therefore paramount for the future sustainability of the 'caring family.' This workshop provides a brief overview of the 'Sustainable Caring Family' concept and how it can inform family assessment and intervention. Practical examples will be offered. Additionally we will discuss strategies that work when conducting assessment with 'caring families.'

Implementing Evidence to Meet the Needs of Families

Presenters:

Sonia Hines, RN, Cert IV TAE, BN, Grad Dip Ed (Adult & Tertiary),

MAppSci (research), PhD candidate

Kate Kynoch RN, Cert IV TAE, BN, MN, PhD

Mater Misericordiae Limited, Australia

Description:

This evidence implementation workshop is an introduction into the wonderful world of implementing research evidence into practice specifically focused on meeting the needs of families in the healthcare context. In the workshop we will explore the principles involved in evidence implementation, understanding the influence of the clinical context on successful practice change including barriers and facilitators to the implementation of family nursing, introduce a range of implementation strategies specifically targeted at families, and discuss methods for evaluating successful practice changes. This workshop is designed for all levels. Participants will take part in discussions and small group exercises to develop their knowledge and skills in evidence implementation to meet the needs of families.

Family Functioning and Family Outcomes: State of the Science, Measurement, Design, Translation to Practice and Policy

Presenters:

Suzanne Feetham, PhD, RN, FAAN, Children's National Health System, USA
and University of Pennsylvania, USA

Kathleen Knafl, PhD, University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill, USA

Naohiro Hohashi, PhD, RN, PHN, Kobe University, Japan

Junko Honda, PhD, RN, RHN, CTN-A, Kobe University, Japan

Session Sponsored by
Catherine L. Gilliss

Description:

This workshop addresses the state of the science of the theories, design, methods and measures of family functioning. Included are results of a synthesis of research of family functioning, a description of the research leading to the development of the Family Environment Map (FEM-E) and strategies used to translate the FEM-E to practice. Actions to translate the science of family functioning to inform policy and transform health care related to contemporary social issues affecting families, such as refugees and families living in poverty are described.
