Grief and Loss Across the Lifespan in the COVID Era: How to Care for Our Patients and Ourselves

Covid-19 has brought grief and loss to the forefront of nursing practice in many ways. This workshop will provide nurses with a broad background in the various types of grief including ambiguous loss, witnessed loss, anticipatory grief, anticipatory loss for aging parents and complicated grief. Attendees will have the opportunity to implement gained knowledge in assessment and treatment of grief and complicated grief through case study and simulation/role play.

Lead: Connie Kartoz

7:00PM-
10:00PM

Partnership with Families Across the Lifespan: Facilitating Family Nursing

Australian and New Zealand nursing practice has a focus on partnership in health care. Family partnership develops through therapeutic family conversations, family assessment, engagement in decision making, understanding and promoting health literacy, and tailoring care. Partnering with complex and culturally diverse families, nurses facilitate client and family engagement creating a healthcare environment which facilitates family empowerment and decision making. Australian and New Zealand Family Nurses have developed innovative practice, tools and education approaches that facilitate client and family partnership in healthcare. Workshop participants will develop their family nursing skills that best meet client and family needs for partnership and engagement.

Lead: Dr. Elisabeth Coyne

10:00AM-1:00PM	Global Perspectives on Narrowing the Know-do Gap in Acute Care Family Nursing This workshop will focus on implementing best practice in acute-critical family care, highlighting the interplay of context and culture, nurse capacity, knowledge and behaviour, and implementation strategies. Presenters will draw on their practice and research in the United States, South Africa, Switzerland, Hong Kong, and New Zealand, and invite participants to develop their own strategies to further inform family care in their practice. Lead: Rahel Naef
1:00PM-4:00PM	Pre-conference: An Introduction to Quantitative & Qualitative Methods for Analyzing Dyadic Data This workshop will introduce participants to some of the key design and analytic approaches to examining dyadic data including actor-partner-interdependence models, dyadic incongruence models, longitudinal dyadic models and extensions of these models. In addition, qualitative and mixed-methods approaches to dyadic data will be covered. Methods will be presented with the use of real-world examples with a focus on matching methods to research questions and, where applicable, theoretical frameworks. Activities will include break-out groups and discussion of common challenges in doing dyadic research and facilitating networking among participants. Lead: Karen Lyons
